

◇ 2 AESTHETIC REALISM CLASSES ◇

THE GREATEST PLEASURE a person can have is to be able to like the world on an honest basis, and every Aesthetic Realism class teaches how! There are classes in poetry, music, acting, anthropology, education, the visual arts. And there are the two classes described below. They are based on these principles stated by Eli Siegel, the founder of Aesthetic Realism:

1. "All beauty is a making one of opposites, and the making one of opposites is what we are going after in ourselves."
2. "The greatest danger or temptation of man is to get a false importance or glory from the lessening of things not himself; which lessening is Contempt."

Understanding vs. Summing Up One's Spouse: The Enormous, Beautiful, and Urgent Difference

UNDERSTANDING MARRIAGE!—A CLASS OPEN TO ALL WOMEN

Taught by There Are Wives: Consultants Barbara Allen, Anne Fielding, Meryl Nietsch-Cooperman

In this exciting class women learn the basis for a kind, successful marriage—and it is the most romantic and practical thing for a wife to know: "The purpose of marriage is to like the world," Eli Siegel explained definitively. He also identified the thing that hurts, even ruins married life: it is that "people have tried to love in a way that would mean less like for the world—in fact, a contempt for it." The upcoming class will discuss these sentences:

There can be no such thing as love without knowledge. Where there isn't knowledge, you are really loving somebody else—somebody you made up....

A person is a relation: there is nothing he or she doesn't have to do with. Whenever we see a person we should try to apprehend that relation....When we understand a person we see that person as having all kinds of unexplainable relations, and explainable, too; and yet as a point, something definite.

Can Thinking about Animals Make Us Kinder to People?

LEARNING TO LIKE THE WORLD—A CLASS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Taught by Aesthetic Realism Consultants Barbara Allen and Robert Murphy

This class for young people between the ages of 5 and 12 teaches that their, and everyone's, deepest desire is to like the world; and that everything—from a flower to mathematics to their mothers—can be used to like the world. The upcoming class will study the following sentences:

We should ask: What is an animal?...What does a dog see? How much recognition is in a dog?...What right has a thing because it is that thing? What rights has a living thing because it is a living thing? Aesthetic Realism says that we can learn from anything in nature—if our purpose is to learn. Our deepest purpose always is to learn about the world so that we can know about ourselves, and to know about ourselves so that we can learn about the world. There is always an interaction.
