FALL 2019 TERM

“If It Moves, It Can Move You”

OPPOSITES IN THE CINEMA

THE AESTHETIC REALISM FOUNDATION continues our special series of monthly classes taught by award-winning filmmaker Ken Kimmelman: “If It Moves, It Can Move You”: Opposites in the Cinema.

This series shows how the art of the cinema, in its technique and meaning, and in all its diversity—from slapstick to spectacle, cinema verité to the fantastic, tragedy to comedy—is a oneness of the permanent opposites in reality.

“All beauty,” Eli Siegel stated, “is a making one of opposites, and the making one of opposites is what we are going after in ourselves.” Whenever a film is good or beautiful it is because it puts opposites together—rest and motion, light and dark, space and time, nearness and distance, continuity and discontinuity, unity and variety, freedom and order—the same opposites we are trying to make sense of in our lives. The series studies how these opposites are present in the motion picture, from Edwin S. Porter’s The Great Train Robbery of 1903 to the latest cinematic achievement. Short film excerpts are shown and discussed in each class.

These 3 classes will take place during the Fall 2019 term:

Wed., Sept. 18, 6-8 pm. The Deep & Delightful Opposites in Classic Animated Films

Wed., Oct. 30, 6-8 pm. The Biggest Things in the World Can Take a Humorous Form in Film

Wed., Nov. 27, 6-8 pm. Films about History Are about Us Too

Fee for the term: $35. Payment must be completed at registration, and is not refundable.
Fee for attending an individual class: $12.
